

metromix
chicago

the blog

What do you think you're doing?

Rebecca Palmore on 07.10.09 | no comments | share

For a month that is not supposed to be dreary, it's been an awfully dreary week. But things are looking up, right? It's Friday, for starters. And sun is expected in the coming days. Now all we have to do is figure out how to pack as many alfresco events into our weekend as possible. Here's a quick rundown of best bets for July 10-12:

1. Volleywood Beach Bash: Sign up by 5 p.m. Friday for this free North Avenue Beach blowout (pictured above) on Saturday, featuring a sudsy afternoon party with MC Hammer and a 200-team volleyball tourney that you can watch starting at 9 a.m., provided your hangover is a) non-existent or b) manageable. ("Hair of the dog" is a good option, too.)

<http://www.chicagonow.com/blogs/metromix-blog/2009/07/what-do-you-think-youre-doing-1.html>